JULY2023

Preface

This template for Standard Bidding Documents (SBDs) (Goods) has been formulated in accordance with Punjab Procurement Regulatory Authority Act, 2009 (PPRAAct-09) and Punjab Procurement Rules 2014 (PPR-14). It has been seriously taken care of that all the basic guidelines/principles/requirements for the preparation of SBDs should be included in this template in order to facilitate the procuring agencies of Punjab. The principle of “Value for money” remained the guiding spirit and ultimate object of our endeavor.

All the procuring agencies may use/seek guidance from this template for the preparation and finalization of SBDs (of a specific procurement) which may also include other details, as per requirement of the procuring agencies, as far as they are not inconsistent with PPRA Act-09 and PPR-14. In case of any conflict between provision of this document and PPR-14, the later shall prevail.

This SBD has been prepared by PPRA internally, endeavored to make it a reality in a very short span of time.

Section-III. Technical Specifications

(for the guidance of procuring agencies to formulate generic specifications)

Notes for Preparing the Technical Specifications

A set of precise and clear specifications is a prerequisite to Bidders to respond realistically and competitively to the requirements of the Procuring Agency. The specifications must be drafted to permit the widest possible competition and, at the same time, present a clear statement of the required standards of workmanship, materials, and performance of the goods and services to be procured. Only if this is done will the objectives of economy, efficiency, and fairness in procurement be realized, responsiveness of Bids be ensured, and the subsequent task of Bid evaluation facilitated. The specifications should require that all goods and materials used to make the goods be new, unused, and of the most recent or current models, and that they incorporate all recent improvements in design and materials unless provided for otherwise in the contract.

Samples of specifications from previous similar procurements in the same country are useful in this respect. The use of metric units (MKS System) is encouraged. Depending on the complexity of the goods and the repetitiveness of the type of procurement, it may be advantageous to standardize the General Technical Specifications and incorporate them in a separate subsection. The General Technical Specifications should cover all classes of workmanship, materials, and equipment commonly involved in manufacturing similar goods, although not necessarily to be used in a particular procurement. Deletions or addenda should then adapt the General Technical Specifications to the particular procurement.

Care must be taken in drafting specifications to ensure that they are not restrictive. In the specification of standards for equipment, materials, and workmanship, recognized international standards should be used as much as possible. Where other particular standards are used, whether national or other standards, the specifications should state that equipment, materials, and workmanship that meet other authoritative standards, and which ensure at least a substantially equal quality than the standards mentioned, will also be acceptable. The following clause may be inserted in the Special Conditions of Contract or the Technical Specifications.

Sample Clause: Equivalency of Standards and Codes

Wherever reference is made in the Technical Specifications to specific standards and codes to be met by the goods and materials to be furnished or tested, the provisions of the latest current edition or revision of the relevant shall apply, unless otherwise expressly stated in the Contract. Where such standards and codes are national or relate to a particular country or region, other authoritative standards that ensure substantial equivalence to the standards and codes specified will be acceptable.

As per Rule-10 of PPR-14, reference to brand name and catalogue number should be avoided as far as possible; where unavoidable, they should always be followed by the words “or equivalent.”

Rule-10 is reproduced for convenience of the Procuring Agency:-

“10. Specifications.–(1) A Procuring Agency shall determine specifications in a manner to allow the widest possible competition which shall not favor any single contractor nor put others at a disadvantage.

(2) The specifications shall be generic and shall not include references to brand names, model numbers, catalogue numbers or similar other classifications but if the Procuring Agency is satisfied that the use of, or a reference to, a brand name or a catalogue number is essential to complete an otherwise incomplete specification, such use or reference shall be qualified with the words “or equivalent”.

(3) The provisions contained in sub-rules (1) and (2) shall not apply to any procurement made by a Procuring Agency which is a public sector commercial concern on the demand of a private sector client specifying, in writing, a particular brand, model or classification of equipment, machinery or other objects.”

Where appropriate, drawings, including site plans as required, may be furnished by the Procuring Agency with the Bidding documents. Similarly, the Supplier may be requested to provide drawings or samples either with its Bid or for prior review by the Procuring Agency during contract execution.

3.1. Technical Specifications

[Text of Technical Specifications to be inserted in the Bidding documents by the Procuring Agency, as applicable.]
